

SOUNDS LIKE FESTIVE

Havas India gave every Indian festival its own JBL sound, from Onam to Diwali, with regional films, creators and tech reviews on digital, and 137 OOH placements across 25 cities, 5 airports and the Mumbai Metro, through the biggest sale weeks of the year.

The result? 56.7 Mn reached on digital plus 250 Mn+ est. OOH impressions, JBL.com orders up 135% and revenue up 149% vs Festive 2025, and Amazon DSP sales up 12% at 7.37x ROAS.

THE CHALLENGE

Festive season is audio's most crowded window: every brand discounts on the same sale days, and marketplaces bid up JBL's own search terms.

The brief: drive consideration and sales across Tune, Live, PartyBox and Bar 1300 MK2 on JBL.com, Amazon and Flipkart, from Onam to Diwali.

REFRAMING THE BRAND

The insight: every Indian festival has its own soundscape, and one national festive ad can't speak to all of them. Havas reframed JBL's role: from a brand running sale ads to the sound inside each celebration, told through regional musicians and creators, then caught at the moment of purchase with tech reviews and sale-day media.

DESIRABLE BRAND IDEA

Sounds Like Festive became the desirable brand idea: one line that flexed for every festival (Sounds Like Onam, Sounds Like Bappa's Here, Sounds Like Pujo). The rollout: 4 thematic films with regional musicians, 14 creator pieces across Kerala, Maharashtra, West Bengal and Punjab, 9 tech reviews plus 7 Amazon reviewers, #SoundsFestive giveaways, six-phase digital to Diwali eve, and OOH across 25 cities, 5 airports and the Mumbai Metro.

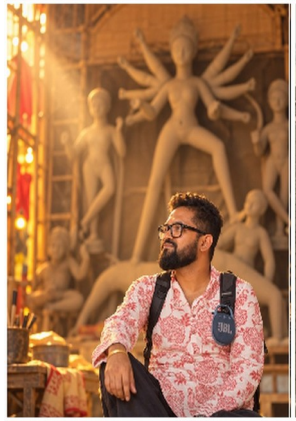

ONE IDEA. ONLINE AND ON THE STREET.

Every festival burst online was matched by OOH in the same markets, so audiences met one idea on their feeds and on their streets, from Ganpati to Diwali.
